ZAMI NOBLA, National Organization of Black Lesbians on Aging, is a service, advocacy and research organization that was incorporated in Atlanta, Georgia in October 2011, when its founder Mary Anne Adams noticed that older black lesbians were disappearing from community-based activities and organizations. The organization aims to empower black lesbians over 40 through community-based programming, leadership development, education, and participatory research.

MISSION STATEMENT
Centering Service, Advocacy and Research for Black lesbians over 40.

VALUES STATEMENT
ZAMI NOBLA operates from a feminist social justice framework promoting health and wellness. We fight actively against ageism, homophobia, racism, sexism, classism, ableism, and transphobia. We affirm, empower and support each other in creating new paradigms for conscious aging.

VISION STATEMENT
We envision a national organization with membership chapters creating opportunities to improve the quality of life for aging black lesbians.

ZAMI NOBLA relies on storytelling to preserve history and motivate advocacy. If you are a black lesbian over 40 we want to hear your story.

ZAMI NOBLA is raising funds to renovate the ZAMI NOBLA Biggers House: A Residence for Black Lesbian Elders based in Atlanta. This project is a demonstration of our commitment to provide safe, affordable, quality, accessible housing for low-income elders over 55.
